

Holocaust Education Grant Guidelines

The Halina Wind Preston Holocaust Education Center and the Arnold D. Kerr Holocaust Education Endowment Fund, programs of Jewish Federation of Delaware, welcome organizations and individuals to apply for funding to support Holocaust education in Delaware. Awards are meant to support and inspire educational opportunities for Delawareans that will raise awareness about the dangers of discrimination, indifference and the consequences of hatred -- to hearten diversity and enhance understanding about the Holocaust, so future generations will be spared the horrors of genocide.

- Refer to “Core Messages” below for guidance as to the Endowment’s priorities.
- Grant awards will generally not exceed $2,500.
- Grantees will be required to submit an Assessment Report at program completion. (attached)

There are no deadlines for submitting grant applications. Applications will be accepted anytime. Applicants will be notified in writing regarding award decisions within two weeks after the application is submitted.

Completed applications and/or any questions may be directed to: Gina Kozicki at Gina@ShalomDel.org. (302) 427-2100 x820

Core Messages

The Lessons Learned from the Holocaust must be taught with historical background and documented facts:

- Hitler and the Nazi regime’s goal was complete destruction of the world’s Jews and separation of non-Aryan from Aryan populations.
- Many economic and social factors made the Holocaust possible, along with collusion of governments, collaborators, and bystanders.
- There is no justification for perpetrating atrocities against persecuted groups. Heroism and courage by victims and witnesses of every faith, age and background was widespread.

While there is no reasonable answer for why the Holocaust was allowed to happen, we must learn from it:

- Individuals, institutions, religious groups, and governments each play a vital role in protecting civil rights for everyone.
- Those who resisted serve as role models of the strength, valor, guardians of human spirit, personal character, and ethical beliefs, and give us hope for the future.
- Study of the Holocaust provides opportunities for significant reflection and personal growth.
