January 25, 2022, Wilmington, DE – Jewish Federation of Delaware launched its new website at ShalomDelaware.org. The website serves as the portal to Jewish Delaware and was evolved to provide and enhance user-friendly experiences. Improvements include a responsive design, site navigation, updated and more robust content, community calendar, event registration, and a secure donation platform.

Online marketing matters. It is increasingly important that nonprofit organizations build an online presence that connects and engages with potential and current constituents through a platform they can easily access anywhere and anytime. Websites have become the most powerful online communications tool with the capability of real-time updating and reporting.

“ShalomDelaware.org serves as Federation’s primary online communication vehicle and it is critical that our website provides an easy to navigate portal that informs, inspires, and builds community,” stated Seth J. Katzen, President and Chief Executive Officer of Jewish Federation of Delaware. “Federation’s mobile-friendly website is an online extension of our brand positioning that parallels and reinforces how, ‘We Grow Stronger TOGETHER’.”

Federation’s website is powered by Firespring, a certified B-Corporation that specializes in building and engaging nonprofit online presence. They provide essential nonprofit tools integrated into a stunning responsive website. For more information, visit Firespring.org.
